GIRL KILLS YOUTH IN RAILWAY DEPOT AT EUREKA, MO.

Night Telegraph Operator, 17, Shoots Another Operator, Sends Message Telling of It and Is Arrested.

PREVIOUSLY SHOT PHYSICIAN'S SON

Young Woman Quoted as Saying, After Shooting, 'Well, He Didn't Have to Put His Arms Around Me.'

Miss Bernice Jennings, 17 years old, of Springfield, Mo., a night telegraph operator for the Frisco Railway at Eureka, 27 miles west of St. Louis, shot and killed James McGraw, 18 years old, also a telegraph operator, in the railroad station there about 3 a. m. today.

Shortly before this shooting she shot Earl Eatherton, son of a Eureka physician, wounding him in the leg. After killing McGraw she wired the train dispatcher at Newburg, 92 miles southwest of Eureka, and then waited at the station until she was taken in custody. Residents of Eureka who heard the shot and ran to the station quoted Miss Jennings as saying: "He didn't have to put his arms around me."

According to information received by telephone from Eureka today, McGraw was on duty until midnight, when his place was taken by Miss Jennings. He went away, but returned later with four or five other young men.

They remained in the station until about 1:30 a. m., when Miss Jennings told them they were annoying her. According to her account she followed them into the waiting room adjoining the telegraph office and fired a revolver shot into the floor to scare them. The bullet glanced and struck Eatherton in the leg.

It was reported that Miss Jennings said the young men then went outside the station and threw stones at her.

An hour or more later McGraw returned alone and the shooting occurred within a few minutes. It is said there were no eyewitnesses, though one report was that other young men accompanied McGraw on his return to the station.

Persons who ran to the office soon after the shooting said Miss Jennings told them McGraw entered the office by forcing a screen from the window. He then either purposely or accidentally put out the station light, a coal oil lamp, and the shooting occurred in the dark. It was at close range, as McGraw's clothing was badly powdered.

McGraw was shot through the heart and fell dead on the office floor.

Earlier in the evening Miss Jennings had telegraphed to the Tower Grove Station in St. Louis that young men were annoying her.

A special agent of the Frisco was sent to Eureka to protect her. He arrived there about ten minutes after the shooting and found Miss Jennings in the telegraph office with the body of the man she had killed.

Miss Jennings was taken to Pacific, Mo., and about 10 a. m. was taken back to Eureka for the coroner's inquest.

Before the opening of the inquest Miss Jennings seemed extremely nervous and no statement could be obtained from her. It was learned that two other women operators had quit their jobs at Eureka since last March. One of these, Miss Helen Bellows, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she had found the annoyances of young men unbearable. The other operator was Miss Ida May Waters.

Miss Jennings had been employed at the station only two weeks. It was said in Eureka that the young men who accompanied McGraw to the station last night had spent the evening at a street carnival at Pacific, Mo., a "wet" town. Eureka is "dry."

AMERICAN DOWNS GERMAN AVIATOR WITH RIFLE BULLET

Flier Is Shot in Head When He Attacks U. S. Wagon Train With Machine Gun.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 25.—An American in a mess outfit shot down a German aviator in the Franco-American offensive south of Soissons, hitting the enemy in the head with a rifle bullet.

Commissary wagons were en route to a site back of the lines when the German swooped down and attacked the wagon train with a machine gun, flying low to make his aim certain. The panic-stricken mules caused confusion and the drivers and soldiers had their hands full to control the animals. The young soldier leaped from a wagon as the enemy flier came near and shot him. The machine fell nearby.

A German Lieutenant and 18 men who were captured by the Americans were questioned concerning the remainder of the battalion. The officer replied: "Those 18 are all that are alive."

The Lieutenant said the speed of the Americans was the biggest surprise of his army experience. He added that the Americans even outclassed the Germans when the latter were attacking the Russians and said he was glad to be a prisoner.

ENLISTMENT OF CLASS 1 DRAFTED MEN IS HALTED

Crowder Wires Board Here Marine and Navy Services Must Wait Till August Army Quota Is Filled.

RULING AFFECTS SHIPWORKERS, TOO

Most of Men Procured Here for Sea Duty Were Out of Those Released From National Army.

No more Class 1 men in the draft will be permitted to enlist in the navy or marine corps, or to go to work at shipbuilding, until a sufficient number of such men are in sight to fill the August quotas, with generous allowances for physical rejections at camp.

The order was issued last night by Provost Marshal-General Crowder, and the navy and marine recruiting stations today stopped recruiting Class 1 men. The order also provides that no such men may get released from draft to work at shipbuilding.

The reason given is that the August quotas will be as large as those of July, and Class 1 men are running low. The order, received by the District Appeals Board, follows:

"Calls for August will be as large as July calls. You should refuse releases to the navy, marine corps, or emergency fleet to all registrants of the 1917 or 1918 classes who have been, or will be, classified in Class 1. This applies whether or not registrants have been finally classified or examined physically."

Navy Got Released Men.

A large percentage of the navy and marine enlistments, particularly the former, have consisted of Class 1 men. It has been estimated that more than 10 per cent of the 1918 registrants, who registered here June 5, have joined the navy and marines.

The order means that, between now and Aug. 31, men who are in Class 1 and who are physically fit, must serve in the National Army, and no other branch, if they are in line for service.

The District Board yesterday passed on the cases of 30 men who had been placed in class 1 by the ward boards under the "work-or-fight" rule. In the Twentieth Ward, 14 of the 20 reclassifications were approved. Three out of 10 were approved in the Twenty-second Ward. The 17 men will have to get useful jobs or await call for military service.

One of them is Walter H. Holke, first baseman for the New York Giants. He recently filed affidavits with the Twenty-second Ward Board, stating that he made $666 a month playing baseball, and that the only other work he knew was that of complaint clerk for the Laclede Gas Co., at $70 a month.

Other Men Affected.

The others in the Twenty-second Ward who will have to work or fight are H. C. Williams and James P. Hurst. Those in the Twentieth Ward are William E. Armstrong, Joseph Gerken, Cecil Farrow, Meyer Kurtz, Otto Freundlich, Edward Seim, William J. Kenna, Walter Kisker, Louis Lerner, George M. Kenzie, P. C. Busler, R. W. Burnette, W. H. Whalen and M. C. Eaglin.

HOME GUARDS BREAK CAMP TO COME TO CITY FOR PARADE

The First Regiment, Missouri Home Guards, broke camp this afternoon at Camp Dwight Pilley Jr., on the site of the old Country Club, in St. Louis County, where it has been in field training since Saturday afternoon.

The men entrained on street cars shortly after noon for the return to the city. Upon arrival at the city they were arranged for a downtown parade to let the town see what they look like after five days in camp.

The parade route follows: North on Twelfth street to Olive, east to Broadway, north to Washington, west to Twelfth, south to Locust and west to the army, at Grand avenue and Market street.

ALLIES CONTINUE GAINS AGAINST POCKETED ENEMY

Washington Views Contest as Race to Snap Salient Shut on Germans Before They Can Get Out.

VITAL ENEMY SUPPLY CENTER THREATENED

Germans Harassed by Long Range Artillery Fire as They Fight Desperately to Save Men and Guns.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Further progress by the American forces in the attacks between the Ourcq and the Marne is reported by Gen. Pershing in his communique for yesterday, received today at the War Department.

Northwest of Jaulgonne, American forces penetrated the enemy's positions to a depth of from one to two miles.

The statement follows: "Headquarters American Expeditionary Force, July 24, 1918.

"Between the Ourcq and the Marne our troops participated in local combats which resulted in further forcing back the enemy lines. Northwest of Jaulgonne the enemy's positions were penetrated to a depth of from one to two miles."

Pushing steadily forward, American and French troops, south of Soissons, and French, British and Italian forces in the region of Rheims, have gained in the race against the Germans in the great allied counter stroke.

More and more the desperate battle being waged north of the Marne is assuming the aspects of a race, in the opinion of officials here. On the one side are the troops of the allies, striking at both sides of the pocket-like salient, between Soissons and Rheims, in an attempt to close the jaws of the trap set by Gen. Foch.

On the other side are the German forces, under Gen. von Boehm, who, by rear guard actions and counter attacks, are attempting to stay the progress of the allies until troops, guns and supplies can be removed from the salient. Time is the great factor in the race.

On the western side of the salient the Franco-American forces today, according to unofficial advice, appear to be threatening the vital German center, Fere-en-Tardenois, which is known to be the supply station for the German forces to the south.

Signs of a new movement, on the other side of the salient, are seen today in the gaining by the British of important ground in Vignay Wood, southwest of Rheims.

Not alone is the position of the German forces being made more precarious by gains on the upper flanks of the salient, but officials believe that many German troops face the danger of capture through determined attacks by the Americans and French in the region north of Chateau-Thierry.

With the railroad running from Chateau-Thierry to Soissons under allied fire, or in allied hands, only a single railroad remains which can be used by the German command in getting out men and supplies. On Gen. March indicated, is the railroad running from Nanteuil or the Ourcq to Bazoches, on the River Vesle.

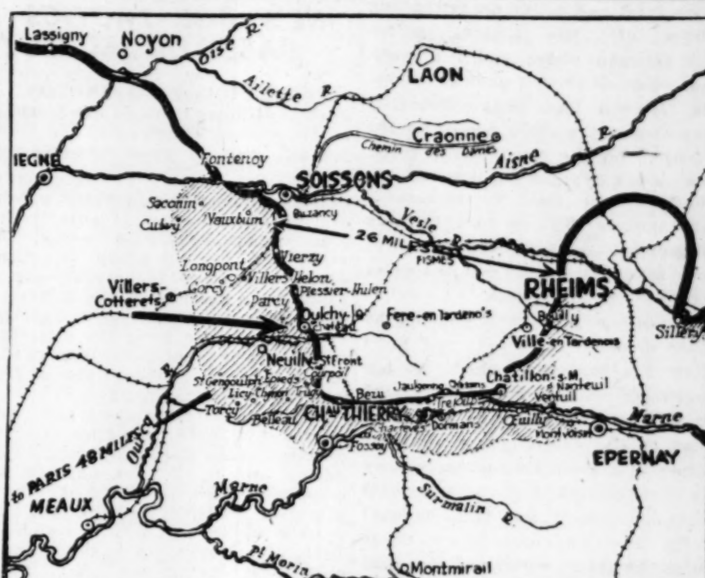

Gen. March Explains the Situation on the Marne Front.

The situation was graphically explained yesterday by Gen. March, chief of forces in midweek conference with newspaper correspondents. For the last 10 days, Gen. March said, the employment of probably 15 divisions of fresh German reserves on the Soissons jaw of the trap has practically steadied the line there. On the eastern jaw front, however, the enemy has been crushed back more than a mile and a half on a 10-mile front, further imperiling his whole position in the salient from which he is endeavoring to extricate his troops.

Gen. March's statement follows: "On Saturday I called your attention to the importance of the railroad system in the salient which was under discussion as influencing the position of the Germans south of the Marne and while I was talking the Germans were actually withdrawing from that salient across the

Summary of the War News

By the Associated Press.

BIG developments are impending on the Aisne-Marne-Rheims battle front, according to indications today.

Although official advice is lacking, unofficial reports make it appear that not only are the allies rapidly continuing the process of ousting the Germans from their Marne salient, but that a movement may be in process of execution by means of which it is hoped to trap a goodly section of the German Crown Prince's army.

Driving in on the west, the French are now reported to have reached a point within three miles of the important road junction town of Fere-en-Tardenois, where eight roads over which the Germans move troops and supplies converge.

On the easterly side of the salient, according to unconfirmed reports which have reached London, British troops have driven in a great distance toward Fismes, the real German base for the district south of the Aisne. This town, 11 miles from the last reported position of the British southwest of Rheims, lies about midway from the top of the pocket in which something like half a million Germans are assed.

Easterly and westerly movements are tending to converge to close the pocket. Speed seems to be the watchword of the allies all along the line, as attested by orders on the American front to ignore machine gun nests and press on, leaving detachments to deal with the German gunners.

SIMONDS REPINGTON DISCUSS SITUATION ON WESTERN FRONT

AT CRISIS OF CAMPAIGN OF 1918, SAYS SIMONDS; FOCH NEEDN'T STRIKE, ENEMY MUST

By FRANK H. SIMONDS.
Author of "The Great War."
After a week of the Franco-American counter-offensive, we are entering a third and extremely interesting phase of the present battle.

The German blow was effectively parried and the allies passed to the offensive on the Aisne-Marne front. The second or allied phase covers the counter-thrust and its immediate consequences, leading to a German retreat and a severe local re-advance following the general and wider defeat in the first phase.

In the new phase now opening the great question is raised: will Foch keep the initiative, which he has manifestly wrested from Ludendorff, or will he, following the course of Diaz in the recent Piave struggle, return to a defensive campaign after he has exploited to the uttermost his local successes in the Marne salient?

On the answer to the question turns the future course of the campaign of 1918. To go back to the first battle of the Marne, Joffre first stopped the German advance below the Marne, then returned to the offensive and forced Ludendorff to retreat behind the Aisne. Finally, while the Germans were seeking to resume their main thrust and again advance to the south, Joffre began a series of turning movements between the Oise and Yser rivers, which compelled Ludendorff to abandon his own plans and rush to the protection of his imperiled flank.

What will Foch do? In this situation Foch may, if he feels strong enough and the situation is not too difficult, attempt to repeat the Joffre strategy and strike still another blow elsewhere before Ludendorff can recover from his present defeat. This would compel the German commander, even though he had achieved a tactical success, to turn his attention to the fresh danger and give over such plans as he may be maturing for a blow of his own.

Either Foch or Ludendorff, it would seem, must strike soon again. Foch has the first chance by reason of his present showing of decisive success in this decisive year is practically extinguished. We are, then, at a mighty interesting and clearly crucial moment in the present campaign. And we should be careful to guard against any exaggerated notion of the extent of the present success, keeping in mind the fact that the German army, in point of fact, after the first moment of surprise and confusion, the German military machine has met the emergency with consummate skill and with undiminished energy and competence.

On last Friday the Germans were confronting a situation which contained all the possibilities of a great disaster. The Franco-American advance to the edge of Soissons, were it not for the fact of a great out delay, might bring about a new and expanded Sedan. All the Germans south of the line between Soissons and Rheims were in deadly peril.

Almost a week later, however, we find the Germans still holding Soissons and conducting an orderly and even deliberate evacuation of the Marne salient. This indicates not alone good generalship, but a high morale in the mass of the fighting troops and a marvellously flexible and efficient handling of reserves.

Great Allied Success. All this does not detract from the greatness of the allied success nor from the brilliance of the Foch stroke. It only serves to reveal how strong the German machine remains and how idle it is, idle and dangerous, to jump from the fact of a local victory to the assumption of a general and definite triumph. A similar conclusion after the first battle of the Marne led to general disappointment and long continuing popular bewilderment.

Despite the stiffening of German resistance north of the Marne, there is little reason to doubt that the German retreat will go to the Vesle and result in the extinction of the "Paris salient." But Ludendorff is now in a position, by paying the price in casualties as a result of retaining an awkward position, to postpone the actual evacuation until he is able to strike elsewhere and distract the attention of the German people from a field of past defeat to a scene of possible contemporary success. And this is the most familiar of all German methods employed over and over again.

Therefore, we must look for a new Ludendorff stroke elsewhere—since the conditions between Soissons and Rheims almost prohibit a new venture there, unless Foch, with a better chance, imitates Joffre's strategy after the first Battle of the Marne.

As he has employed it in the second conflict, and makes it the move. (Copyright, 1918, by New York Tribune.)

HOW ALLIES MEET NEW FOE TACTICS BASED ON SECRECY

By LIEUT.-COL. REPINGTON.
Former Military Critic of the London Times.

The human factor alone has not been concerned in the attack on the Justitia, according to the Daily Mail, which says the fight began at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and lasted intermittently until Saturday morning. The ship sank about 1 o'clock in the afternoon after nine torpedoes had been fired.

When the liner was first struck, the torpedo-boat destroyers which accompanied her raced to attack the enemy and dropped many depth charges, while patrol boats stood by the ship and a tug took her in tow. The second and third torpedoes were fired about 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Both missed their marks, one going ahead of the steamer and the other astern. Two hours later another torpedo was seen coming, but when it got close a gunner on the Justitia, with extraordinary aim, hit it clean and exploded it.

All was quiet until 8 o'clock in the evening, when the fifth torpedo was sighted. The gunners on the Justitia placed their shots so near it that the torpedo was deflected and missed its target.

Most of the crew by this time had been transferred to other ships which had remained near the liner all night.

The Justitia was well on her way to port Saturday morning when toward 8 o'clock the gunners again were hard at work as the sixth and seventh torpedoes went past. Two hours later a submarine fired the eighth and ninth torpedoes and one of them struck forward and the other astern.

No Transport Hereafter to Return Without Protection.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The sinking of the Justitia while she was homeward bound means that hereafter no transport will be allowed to move going or coming without the protection of warships. The big steamer makes the sixth transport the German submarines have destroyed in the same way. The others were the Antilles, Presto, the Loran and Covington, under the American flag, and the Moldavia and Dwinsk under the British flag. All of these were caught on their way back to the United States after discharging their cargoes of troops. Only one transport has been hit on the Atlantic coast, that was the Tuscania, but even she was unscathed when the U-boats showed up.

The explanation of the unprotected status of these military liners is that they have been permitted to rely on their speed for security. Going over full of troops no chances are taken. The loss of the Justitia is a definite blow to us. She was good for 10,000 troops every month. Fortunately we are building and conveying new transports right along, so, in a measure, this loss, as well as the loss of the other transports, will be soon made up.

KAISER'S PET WAR REPORTER ADMITS UPSET IN PLANS

German Set-Back Described as Failure to Rush Forward as Rapidly as Expected.

By CYRIL BROWN.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

AMSTERDAM, July 24.—Karl Roemer, the Kaiser's favored war correspondent, making no reference to the Kaiser's presence on any battlefield among his victorious troops, wires to the Lokai Anzeiger from the Rheims battlefield.

"Surveying events to date, it became apparent that the lines of this new battle did not come into that full flow which one might have expected from the plan, and which gave the previous battles the stamp of great and fully exploited victories. Our thrust on both sides of Rheims occasioned the enemy to attack with mass of his reserves against our right wing in order to relieve his easterly front sectors."

"After strong artillery fire the enemy succeeded on July 18 in pressing back our lines five or six kilometers (about three miles). This strong counter-offensive, planned to break through, and carried out by more than a hundred tanks, was shattered on the afternoon of July 18.

All our men are laden with souvenirs such as trench knives, iron crosses, revolvers and other small things. The field was strewn with German helmets and other equipment too heavy even for memento gatherers to carry away.

The general situation places us, of the affected parts of the front, before new tasks, so that our leaders are determined to adapt themselves elastically to the new situation and not violently carry through the original plan of operations."

This is the first admission from any German source that Ludendorff's plans were completely upset by the Soissons offensive. As the Kaiser's pet war correspondent, Roemer is in a position to be particularly well informed.

Goods are being put in place today in the storeroom at 619 Franklin avenue for the rummage sale which will be held Saturday and Monday for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. Hundreds of donated articles will be disposed of at low prices. The sale will be under the management of Misses Pauline and Mathilda Levy of 6040 Waterman avenue, and Misses Eleanor and Virginia Murty of 6105 Waterman avenue, assisted by their mothers, Mrs. Julius Levy and Mrs. Otis G. Murty Jr. The goods being moved to the storeroom by trucks of the Yellow Motor Car Co., whose use was donated through the courtesy of James W. Wallace Jr. The sale will be advertised by a large sign donated by the American Sign Co., Seventeenth and Pine streets. The use of the storeroom has been donated by the agents, Adam Boeck & Co., 813 Chestnut street.

Six children living in the neighborhood will give a carnival and show at 5135 Kensington avenue for the benefit of the Milk and Ice Fund. An entertainment at 5569 Page boulevard July 19 yielded $11.26 for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. There were recitations, songs and a patriotic tableau. The workers and their Page boulevard addresses: Anna Musick, 5555; Marion Thornton, 5593; Ruth Halwasser, 5555A; George Prothero, 5560; B. D. Moss Jr., 5571; Selma Pachter, and Nell Lambur, 5569. Baby Eloise Zymor made a hit as "America" in the tableau.

Eight children gave an entertainment at 4660 St. Ferdinand July 10 that added $13.20 to the babies' fund. They were Lela Forbis, 4650 St. Ferdinand; Laura Lehr, 2406 Marcus; Pearl Horwitz, 4530A St. Ferdinand; Alice Green, 1923A Marcus; Ruth Frentzel, 4670 St. Ferdinand; Virginia Mueller, 4660 St. Ferdinand; Harry Vahle, 4648 St. Ferdinand; and Muriel Richards, 4666 St. Ferdinand. Catherine and Virginia Kelly of 4115 West Lee avenue managed a successful entertainment and carnival at their home July 20. Singing, dancing and recitations comprised the program, and ice cream, cake, etc., were sold afterward. Mary McHenry and Violette Algeo assisted them, and $10 was taken in.

Ruth and Dorothy Kircher, 5335 Labadie avenue, assisted by Harry Ham, gave a magic lantern and vaudeville show at their home which earned $150. Ten children living in the vicinity of Cherokee and Illinois streets gave a show at the location of a former summer garden on that corner July 10 that brought in $4.75. They were: Viola Hamel, Bernice Burkmeier, Henrietta Dickes, Edward Tutschler, Ethel Thudum, Mildred Moecker, Ottilia Maurer, Margaret Strickland, Helen Dieckes, Johanna Fritschler. A lemonade stand at 2800 Wash street brought in $2. Bluebell and Violet Squires of 2803 Wash, and Rose and Sarah Heller of 2805 Wash were the workers.

MRS. R. E. FUNSTON JR.
WEDS EDWIN D. SMITH

Quiet Ceremony Performed This Afternoon in the Church of the Ascension.

A QUIET wedding was that of Mrs. R. Emmet Funston Jr., and Edwin D. Smith, which took place at 1 o'clock today at the Church of the Ascension, Goodfellow and Cates avenue, the Rev. J. P. Bunting, the church rector, officiating. Dr. Edwin P. North, the best man, was the only attendant. Although no invitations were issued, the church was filled with friends and relatives of the couple. The bride was formerly Miss Nancy Vandervoort, and is a member of a prominent Virginia family. She was living at 5728 Cates avenue. Mr. Smith is an alumnus of the University of Missouri and a Spanish War Veteran. He is a member of the Engineers' Club of St. Louis. After a honeymoon journey Mr.

ST. LOUIS BRIDE WHO IS ON HER HONEYMOON

Mrs. Harry J. King

Smith will take his bride to the new home at 6142 Kingsbury boulevard, which is his wedding gift to the bride.

Social Items

Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider of 24 Portland place received a cablegram from London Wednesday telling her of the safe arrival of her granddaughter, Miss Yvonne Merrill, V. A. D., of the Order of St. John's Ambulance Brigade for overseas service. Miss Merrill made her formal bow to society in St. Louis under her grandmother's chaperonage two seasons ago, and was one of the most popular debutantes of that year. She was educated at the Sacred Heart convent in Montreal, where several St. Louis girls were students, and although she lived in Montreal, most of her time in vacations and since her graduation has been spent in St. Louis. Four of her brothers are serving under the colors of the United States and Great Britain. Walter Merrill is acting Flight Commander of the Royal Flying Corps. Geoffrey Merrill belongs to the same corps, and Clifford and Raymond are in the United States service, the former as a lieutenant in the Ordnance Department, stationed at Boston, and the latter a yeoman in the navy.

Mrs. Austin Allen Parker, wife of Major Parker of the United States Quartermasters Department, who now is living in Washington, D. C., is expected in St. Louis next week to visit her sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Link of 5356 Vernon avenue for a month. Mrs. Parker formerly was Miss Julie Cabanne.

Miss Virginia Hereford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hereford of Ferguson, will depart Saturday to visit friends in New Orleans for a month.

Maj. Carl O. Houseman, who is stationed near Chicago in charge of the inspection of Government motor trucks being built for the army, spent a two days' leave in St. Louis with his family this week. Mrs. Houseman and her children are planning to join him at his present station for a short visit next month.

Dr. and Mrs. Herman von Schrenk of 4129 McPherson avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Trifton von Schrenk of 723 Desloge avenue, have gone to Sparta, N. J., having been called there by the death of their mother, Mrs. Arnold von Schrenk, which took place July 19. The date of their return is uncertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. King of 3634 Juniata street are visiting relatives in Kentucky while on their wedding journey to the East. Mr. and Mrs. King were married in St. Louis July 17. Mrs. King was Miss Minnie D. Koch of 4507 Holly avenue.

Mrs. G. A. Finkelnberg and her sister, Mrs. Emma Wernse of 4312 Westminster place, have gone to Bayview, Mich., to remain until mid-September.

CITY GETS LAND FOR STREETS

It Will Be Used to Eliminate Offsets and "Breaks" in Various Sections. Several small parcels of land needed to eliminate offsets and "breaks" in streets in different parts of St. Louis came formally into possession of the city Tuesday at the conclusion of condemnation proceedings. Director of Streets and Sewers Talbert announced that the opening and grading of some of these new connections would begin within a month.

A cut-off will be made to give a direct connection between Columbia avenue and Southwest avenue; Whit-ter street will be connected with its continuation north of Labadie avenue by a 46-foot cut through part of a block; Yeona avenue will be opened with a width of 66 feet from Bergen avenue to Bates; Marmaduke avenue will be widened from 40 to 60 feet at its intersection with Tamm, and Cutter avenue will be opened as a highway 40 feet wide between Platteau and Dale avenues.

M'ADOO RAISES PAY OF RAILROAD SHOPMEN

68 Cents an Hour, Retroactive to Jan. 1 and Eight-Hour Day
Granted 500,000 Workers.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 25.—Wages of railroad shopmen were increased to 68 cents an hour yesterday by Director-General McAdoo, with proportionate advances for assistants and miscellaneous classes in mechanical departments. The new rates, which are retroactive to last Jan. 1, are from 5 to 13 cents an hour higher than wages paid these men in most shops under the general wage advance allowed two months ago by the Director-General, but are somewhat less than the labor organizations sought.

Beginning Aug. 1, eight hours will be recognized as a standard working day and overtime, Sunday and holiday work will be paid for at the rate of one and one-half times the usual rate. Back pay will be given the men as soon as it can be calculated.

The advances apply to about 500,000 men and apply flatly to all sections of the country, despite local differences prevailing heretofore. The addition to the aggregate annual payroll is estimated as nearly $100,000,000.

The advance is the first extensive modification of the new wage scale and was made on recommendation of the commission on railroad wages and working conditions, following representations of shop crafts that high wages paid machinists and other mechanical workers in shipyards resulted in discrimination against railroad shop employees.

AUSTRALIANS CALL AMERICANS FINEST TROOPS TO BE MET

Touton Newspapers "Barrage of Depreciation Intended for People
Inside of Germany," Correspondent Writes.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, July 25.—An official announcement gives the views of an Australian correspondent, with the Australian forces in France, who says:

"The German newspapers have concentrated on deprecating Gen. Foch and depreciating the American forces. The campaign against Gen. Foch intended to shake the confidence of the allies in their common commander was hopeless from the start and has been utterly nullified by the second battle of the Marne. The newspapers' barrage of depreciation of the quality of the Americans is intended for people inside of Germany, since we in France see and know."

"If the German comforts himself with the idea that they are not equal in value to any of his troops, so much the better because his surprise will be very great. Their military authorities taught them the same fallacy respecting the troops of the United States. We on the spot know the quality of the troops is infinitely higher than that of any of the German troops the Australians ever met in France. Australian officers and men who know this war in every form say that without exception the American troops are the finest one could possibly wish to meet."

50-PER-CENT TAX INCREASE ON LARGE ESTATES PLANNED

House Committee Tentatively Agrees to Raise Graduated Scale So as to Yield $100,000,000 Revenue.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 25.—A 50 per cent increase in the present graduated tax on estates up to and including $8,000,000 estates, with greater increases from larger estates, was tentatively agreed upon yesterday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Chairman Kitchen announced the committee devoted the entire day to considering estate taxes and that while the tentative agreement of the committee is subject to revision the majority favors an increase of 50 per cent over the present rates with few exceptions.

It is expected that the new system of estate tax rates will yield a revenue of $100,000,000 when in full working operation, against the present $70,000,000.

merly Took 24 Months

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 25.—A new world's record in destroyer construction has been established at the Mare Island Navy Yard in the commissioning of the Ward, 71 days after her keel was laid, the Navy Department announced today. The Ward was launched 17 1/2 days after the first plate was laid. Formerly it required 24 months to construct a destroyer in this country.

TRADING HERE UNDER FOE FLAGS

Merchants' Exchange traders today discovered that they are operating under flags of the Central Powers. Thirty-two painted flags adorn the ceiling of the hall and among them are the German, Austrian and Turkish emblems.

Attention of Secretary Smith was called to the flags and he has ordered the American colors substituted.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleaned each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of Cut-thro, which can be obtained from any druggist, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—ADV.

ALLIED SHIPPING LOSS IS LOWEST SINCE 1916

Britain's Total for June Is 161,062 Tons; Associates in War and Neutrals 114,567.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 25.—The loss to British and allied shipping due to enemy action or marine risk for the month of June totaled 275,623 gross tons, this being the lowest record for any month since September, 1916.

The British losses totaled 161,062 tons and allied and neutral losses, 114,567. The total losses for the quarter ending June 30 amounted to 946,578 tons, which was the lowest record for any quarter since the third quarter of 1916.

Sailings continue at the high level of recent months. The tonnage of steamships of 500 gross tons and over entering or clearing from United Kingdom ports other than coastwise and cross channel vessels, totals 7,430,386 tons. The total sailings for the quarter ending June 30 was considerably higher than the sailings of the two preceding quarters.

The above figures were announced by the Admiralty last night. The statement shows for June a drop in the world's sinkings of 81,905 tons, as compared with May; 37,786 tons, as compared with April, and 128,824 tons as compared with March of the present year. Compared with June of last year the falling off is 437,002 tons.

The decrease in purely British tonnage is 64,627 tons, as compared with the May figures; 67,005 tons as compared with April and 63,604 as compared with March of the present year and 271,333 as compared with June of last year.

IN FREIGHT CAR THEFTS
Wheel Chair Occupant Had Been Named as One Who Drove Burglary Engine in $30,000 Burglaries.

Virgil Lechner, who has been named as the man who ran the switch engine used by four St. Louis thieves, a dozen railroad employees and a number of East St. Louis business men to steal $30,000 worth of freight from cars in East St. Louis, was arrested yesterday afternoon as he sat in a wheel chair in the Missouri Pacific Hospital.

He had obtained the credentials of T. S. Halpin, a veteran Missouri Pacific switchman, and used them to obtain employment. He was injured in May in an accident at Bush, Ill. He admitted his identity but denied the thefts. He was able to leave the hospital on crutches and will be taken to Danville, Ill., to be arraigned under an indictment of 10 counts. Four of the gang now are serving penitentiary sentences and others are out on bond, pending an appeal from convictions.

Quade had not reported the sugar he had on hand, as required by the Food Administration rules.

Fred Lay, 8509 South Broadway was another baker who failed to report on his flour, and got the one week posting, probation and order not to bake sweet yeast products.

BRITISH TO DRAFT MUNITIONS MEN IF STRIKE CONTINUES

War Cabinet Decides to Put Those of Military Age Into Army Unless They Maintain Essential Work.

65,000 REPRESENTED
AT MEETING TODAY

"Strike and Go to Hell!" Is
Word Sent by Woolwich
Employees to Discontented Ones at Coventry.

LONDON, July 25.—The British War Cabinet has decided that if the munitions strike continues the strikers of military age will be drafted promptly into the army, according to an official statement published in some of the morning papers. George H. Roberts, Minister of Labor gave a hint to this effect in a speech in London on Wednesday when he declared that no young men had a right to exemption from military service except on the ground that they were doing work more valuable than fighting.

The Government remains firm in its refusal to lift the embargo, which ostensibly is the cause of the strike, although it seems, in instances, the embargo is used as a pretext to cover other grievances.

Events are now awaiting the national conference of the delegates of the engineering trades, which, it is understood, meets at Leeds today. It is believed in some quarters that a majority of the delegates will insist on a ballot for the members before calling a general strike. This course is strongly supported by Alexander Thompson, Socialist and editor of the Clarion, who writes in the Daily Mail:

"It is unthinkable that the conference will assume the tremendous responsibility of stopping the munitions output of the whole country without a democratic vote by all the men and women concerned."

The tactics of the young rebels who forced a strike at Birmingham and Coventry against the advice of responsible leaders made not for democracy or Socialism, but sought for anarchy and Bolshevism."

On the other hand, 8000 notices to cease work Tuesday were handed in at Manchester, where the Amalgamated Engineers have a membership of 15,000. It is declared a majority will join the strike unless the embargo is removed.

65,000 Are Affiliated.

The aggregate membership of the 12 societies affiliated with the joint committee of the engineering trades unions is about 65,000, including about 5000 women. Officials of the joint committee say they have no reason to doubt that all the workers will be loyal to the resolution to stop work.

The Leisham branch of the Federation of Discharged Sailors and Soldiers passed a resolution pledging themselves to work in munitions factories, even if a strike was called, and to stay at work until the strikers are drafted in the army and replaced by skilled workers who now are fighting.

At Lincoln, where the strike was to become effective last night unless the embargo was withdrawn, the workers agreed to remain at their posts pending a decision of the national conference today.

The Woolwich arsenal workers held a meeting, after which they telegraphed the Coventry munitions workers as follows:

"Strike now and you will earn the blessings of the Kaiser and his army of murderers. But you will earn the lasting condemnation of all those who are fighting and working in the allied nations to gain real freedom for civilization."

"We warn you seriously if you persist in striking that this Government will use its force to put down your blood while you are fighting with words and full bellies, that you be immediately put in the front of the firing line, and that your leaders should be shot."

"Strike, and you may go to hell. Woolwich will remain at work, and earn the right to shake the hand of the soldier when he returns."

BETTER ARMY MAIL SERVICE IS ARRANGED BY PERSHING

Special Postal Cars Will Be Provided to Forward Communications, Secretary Baker Tells Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A report from Gen. Pershing regarding army mail service, transmitted to the Senate today by Secretary Baker, recites measures being taken to improve the service and attributes delay in its principal to mismanagement.

On Aug. 1, Gen. Pershing said, a new mail service involving co-operation between the American postal and army authorities and the French Government will be inaugurated by which it is hoped soldiers will get their mail much more promptly. Special postal cars will be provided to forward the mail on the railroads and information will be given the military authorities in charge of the service of contemplated troop movements.

Since the army took over the soldiers' mail, Gen. Pershing said, considerable improvement has been noted and the amount of undelivered mail matter decreased.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Cripples Can Be Self-Supporting.
The public has too often confused the idea of a cripple with that of a beggar. The resulting reaction has done a great injury to the cause of the self-respecting disabled man in regarding him as a subject for charity but not for trade training and employment.

To be sure there is historical precedent for this attitude. In past decades and centuries various peoples have condemned the cripple to the status of roadside beggar or at best employed him as jester or court fool. And in our experience there is justification in the view because we have seen many cripples at street corners, making public exhibition of their deformity or amputation and soliciting alms of the passersby. The number of these beggars is small in comparison to the great body of physically handicapped men who are usefully employed, but the few that have vigorously advertised have made a considerable impression on the susceptibilities of the community and have reaped a profitable harvest. A bank teller reported recently the case of a crippled street beggar who deposited in a savings account, after paying his living expenses, $40 weekly.

That the beggar cripple has been permitted to ply his trade is a great injustice to the disabled men of character and independence. The practice should have been stopped in the past; it is absolutely necessary that it be prohibited in the future. For with the expectation of our soldiers who will return disabled from the front, the public should have no excuse for associating their prospective career with that of the mendicant. On the contrary, every influence should be brought to bear upon the public to show that physical disability is an obstacle, but can be overcome with character and ambition; and that the cripple may be made into a useful and productive citizen.

In several cities there have been inaugurated campaigns to drive the crippled beggar from the streets, and give him the alternative of productive employment or a stay in jail. Such efforts should be continued in every community and persevered in until the unfortunate conception of the cripple shall exist no more.

Such activity may well be undertaken as a first step in preparation for the return of our disabled soldiers and sailors.

DOUGLAS C. MCMURTRIE,

Director, Red Cross Institute for Crippled and Disabled Men.

Peace Celebration Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As your paper is ever ready to promote a suggestion, I will suggest that the nations at war make large Liberty bells and mount them in the capitals of their respective countries and connect them with electricity, so that they may all be rung at the same time when the war is over and peace is declared and the world has freedom.

Then let President Wilson push the button that will ring the bells all over the world. The world owes him this honor and I am glad to have the honor of making the suggestion.

WILLIAM R. WOOD,

2539A North Market Street.

Was U. R. Burglary Camouflage?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After analysis of developments in the latest United Railways scandal, one cannot help looking upon it as being a plant to raw that it would not fool the veriest neophyte. The road to the goal, expected to create the alibi, was blazed so plainly that the police department, who make investigations systematically and in an orderly manner, based on manual rules and deductions, forgot their lessons in their zeal to help the game along, walked right in and came right out with everything necessary to create a condition to facilitate plans formulated by our North American Indians, most of whom sojourn in St. Louis and maintain offices in the city of high finance both for appearance and other reasons that will not bear scrutinizing. The question of course uppermost in everybody's mind is: What is the game and where will we get on and off?

Now, Mr. Editor, you have undoubtedly had a few thoughts on this subject, and may or may not have solved the mystery. At any rate, I am going to hand you my deductions and if they prove anything to you, well and good; if not, there is no harm done.

We will start with the new franchise: Did the North American want it? Not in a thousand years. Why? The control would then go to the preferred stock and bondholders, which would mean a vast change in the power bills which are now made out, checked and paid by the same bunch. That a move of this kind should be combined in a surreptitious manner is natural, and that disintegration of the system has long been contemplated and planned is, in the writer's opinion, proven by conditions as they exist at this time.

In the event of disintegration, the old contract would become null and void and the different lines would be at the mercy of the North American Co. through either Union Electric Co. or Keokuk Power Co. It would not be a case of competition, but across, in almost every case on a basis of present price of coal.

Watch the game as it develops and pass out a few hot ones as opportunity permits. I will subscribe myself

NOT ONE OF THEM.

WAR POLITICS IN NEW YORK.

On the eve of the opening of the State campaign on issue of third-termism plus Mr. Hearst makes war politics in New York a little more confused, perhaps, than usual. Having already been given two elections by his party, Gov. Whitman demands another nomination, with the opposition centered to date largely around Attorney-General Merton E. Lewis.

Although Mr. Whitman was said to control much more than a majority of the members of the unofficial G. O. P. State convention or conference, that body made up no slate and submitted no recommendations to the voters in the primaries. In fact, the outlook during the meeting was rendered decidedly uncertain by a plan to draft Col. Roosevelt as a candidate. The round robin asking the Colonel to go back 20 years and again run for the New York governorship was signed by his old enemy, Boss William Barnes, as well as by Senator Wadsworth, Senator Calder, Ellihu Root and many other leaders.

The similar Democratic State conference did not hesitate to make its desires known to the voters. It even went so far as to frame a full machine slate with a strong Tammany flavor in that Alfred E. Smith, president of the New York City Board of Aldermen, was endorsed for Governor. This preliminary defeat was a matter of indifference to Mr. Hearst, who, along with Sir James Gerard and other aspirants, did not succeed in getting a place on the ticket. He had previously announced that, irrespective of what the conference might do, the people would have a chance to vote for him at the primary and his petitions are said already to have been signed by large numbers in Greater New York and elsewhere.

That Mr. Roosevelt declined to permit his name to be used to serve the convenience of the party politicians is not surprising. There were personal reasons of a very intimate and moving sort why he should not be a candidate and no compelling reasons of public import and quality why he should be a candidate. He had nothing to gain, in fact, something to lose, by plunging into the factional contest. To do so would merely have strengthened a current Republican impression that he is a sort of animated trouble wagon, obligated to respond in any and all party crises, however unimportant.

While our esteemed contemporary, the Republic, is discussing, with careless disregard of facts and ethics, the character and fitness of Democratic candidates for the Senate, especially Senator Willey, why does it not reprint its own editorial on Joseph W. Folk during the presidential campaign, Mr. Folk's last appearance in Missouri politics until the present senatorial contest? The title is "Folk's Pharisaism," and the date is Feb. 3, 1912.

76-MILE GUN'S LIMITATIONS.

The Kaiser's 76-mile gun is not a particularly dependable weapon. When as big a target as a city of 2,888,000 population is aimed at, the gun is reasonably certain to hit something within its limits or its nearby suburbs. But it can never be fired with any assurance that it is going to strike women shoppers in the streets or kill children playing in the parks or smash into churches crowded with worshipers during seasons of especial devotion. When these excellent results are obtained, it is largely fortuitous. Besides it discharges only a weak-powered explosive projectile, with a less-destructive effect than might be desired on historic structures and monuments of art.

Without a doubt, the Kaiser hoped that if his drive between the Aisne and the Marne did not actually bring him to Paris, it would carry his lines so near that heavier guns of greater accuracy but shorter range might be trained on beautiful Paris and its hospital inmates and women and children. The 76-mile guns are few, but the 20 and 30 mile guns are many. He did get within about 46 miles of Paris, but circumstances over which he had no control prevented him getting any nearer. He has had to draw back until he is 54 or 56 miles away and the mileage is becoming bigger every minute.

He'll be back on the 76-mile line again soon, with an accumulated momentum that will make it difficult for him to stop. With the 76-mile gun falling short he will have to bring out the 90-mile or the 100-mile guns or abandon the slaughter of holy-day church congregations.

No need for the Department of Justice operatives to watch that hyphen in the Franco-American Alliance. It is a straight hyphen, patriotic at both ends, and it will never bend in the middle.

THE REACTION OF LIES.

The dismay of German prisoners who find so many Americans in France that they think there are many more is unconsciously reacting to an impulse with which psychologists are familiar. Ordinary folk are familiar with it, too. Its phenomena have been handed down from generation to generation in the ancient folk tale of the shepherd who cried wolf.

The official German Misinformation Bureau has been lying to the German people so long that it is scarcely to be wondered that the people doubt that there can be truth-telling anywhere in the world. Having learned that their own Government habitually understates the truth about 10 per cent and overstates it about 1000 per cent, they must conclude that other Governments do the same thing.

It is almost trite to mention the fact, but right here is where the whole German theory of propaganda breaks down. It works on the assumption that average intelligence is a want of intelligence—that the average man is quite willing to be fooled so long as he is not distressed. Such an assumption explains the traditional German folly of trying to suborn a nation by corrupting its press and polluting its sources of information.

The average intelligence, on the contrary, does not want to be fooled. It wants to know the truth. So long as it is getting what it believes to be the truth it possesses the inherent stamina to face that truth, however unpleasant it may be. Only when it is bewildered, knowing not what to believe, is it easily dismayed.

Whether prisoners' statements are proof that the foundations of sand upon which the whole structure of German morale is built have already begun to slip, it would be unwise to say. But if the sand is not now running out it will soon begin to do so. And the foolish builders who preferred such material to the solid and enduring basis of truth will have but themselves to blame.

UNDERGROUND U. R. INFLUENCES.

Circuit Attorney McDaniel's statement about the private plea made for Bruce Cameron by former Gov. Major, a kinsman and former employer of Mrs. McDaniel, who was employed as attorney for Cameron, is interesting and significant. It shows the length to which the United Railways management and its attorneys will go to smother investigation and prosecution in the referendum theft case.

The outcome of this effort to influence Mr. McDaniel to protect the United Railways, through family relationships, reflects credit on the Circuit Attorney and his wife. The advice of Nicholas M. Bell, who declined to use similar influence, to go ahead and do his duty, was honorable and sound.

These underground schemes and influences to suppress exposure and prosecution of crimes is a warning to Mr. McDaniel of the pitfalls that lie in the path of public officials who attack corruption and crime in high places and whose duty leads them to antagonize powerful interests.

It is evident that Mr. McDaniel recognizes the path of honor and duty. It is the road that leads to public service and the highest compensation a man in public life can gain.

The bridge arbitrary may work across a river, but it can't work up and down.

ARMY CONTRACT VAMPIRES.

The arrest of 17 raincoat manufacturers charged with perpetrating frauds under contracts for supplies for the army and the announcement at Washington that manufacturers of other apparel for the soldiers are being investigated would seem to mean that the Government means to wage vigilant war against such profiteers and grafters.

It is not surprising that a few conscienceless scoundrels would try to make capital out of the needs of the country. The army contract has always been a temptation to vampires of a certain type. We have had to buy so many millions of articles costing so many millions of dollars that even the most careful scrutiny could not always make fraud impossible.

The majority of contractors is probably made up of honest and patriotic business men, men who are content to take reasonable pay for their products and to give reasonable value for the money. These men will be the first to say that every doubtful transaction should be investigated thoroughly but speedily, so that the thieves can be weeded out for the punishment suitable to their contemptible crimes.

This war has done something for art, anyway. It has taught the Germans how to play "Kame-rad" on the bugle.

EMPTY SHIP LOSSES.

Doubtless there are sufficient reasons why the conveying of empty transport ships homeward cannot be made as effective as conveying them abroad when they are loaded with troops. While it is to be regretted that such fine ships as the Justicia should be sunk, the feeling is tinged with a sense of relief that she was not crowded with American soldiers.

Such losses are to be expected from time to time. But they appear trivial when one thinks of the seas crowded with allied vessels that are not sunk—vessels that at one single time were carrying 100,000 fresh American troops to France. Fortunately, the U-boat campaign against tonnage has become a losing fight.

The convoy system which protects so carefully ships going over could protect them with equal security on the return voyage if it could be so employed without lessening its ability to perform its major task. Nevertheless, the important thing is that the major task should be performed. So long as it is, the country will not worry about the sinking of an unloaded vessel now and then, but with increasing destroyers and patrol boats, the returning ships should have protection. Ships count in the fight.

First, the Germans thought we wouldn't fight. Then they thought we couldn't fight. They guessed wrong twice, and now they are running too fast to guess again.

A PHANTOM CZAR.

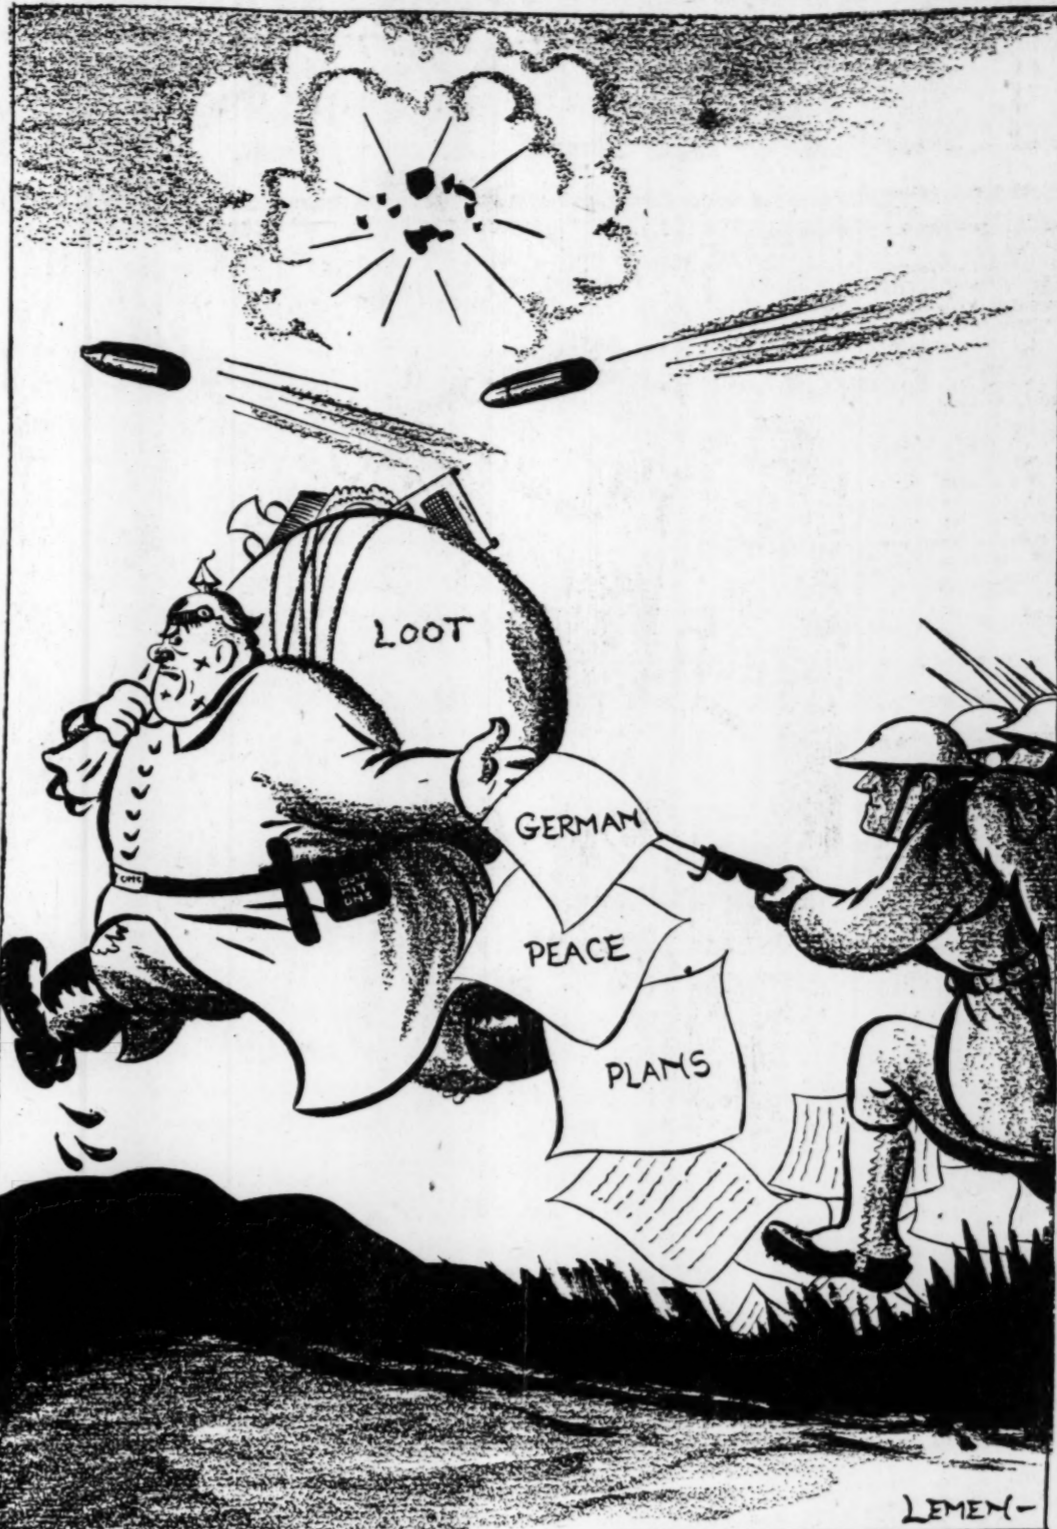

In all recorded time few monarchs ruling over realms so vast and millions so many as Nicholas Romanoff have left upon the surface of events such shallow and fleeting ripples of disturbance when they left the scene.

Compared with despots like Peter and Catherine, the dead Czar was a phantom of authority. Power was exercised through him, or in despite of him, by a bureaucracy in which fanaticism and treason kept at bay the noblest elements in an empire kept in the spirit of self-sacrifice, and reaction stifled all strivings for democracy.

Scarcely more than a figurehead during most of his long reign, Nicholas had his great moment. It was upon his initiative in 1899 that The Hague Peace Tribunal was founded. He dreamed that war should be no more! His real death day was that of his deposition. Particularly since the Bolsheviks overthrew the Duma democracy his life was worth but a feather's weight. History will know him as one whose association with a great tragedy was that of a bewildered victim of forces he was impotent to control.

Grafting on Government contracts, and the names mentioned in that connection, would seem to indicate that there is still some dross in the bottom of the "melting pot."

They are going to quit playing baseball, and also that weird, unclassified game the Cardinals used to play.

Written for the POST-DISPATCH

THE KAISER'S PARODY.

BACKWARD, turn backward, O Time in thy flight!
And let me get Wilson's America right.

I want to decide again what we shall do
When the submarine question comes up for review.

I want to set truth against Von Tirpitz' dreams
And miscalculations. I booted that, it seems.

They tell me the Yanks are not only on hand,
But are cleaning us up. I cannot understand.

They told me the Yanks would be raw and untrained,
But the way they go through us has not been explained.

Von Tirpitz assured me they'd drown in the seas,
But the Crown Prince complains they are thicker than fleas.

They dodged it all wrong to my probable fall,
And I swallowed it hook, bait and sinker and all.

Backward, turn backward, O Time on thy wake—
I fear me I made me an awful mistake.

An historian who has been looking up prior unpleasantness with the pugnacious people on the hot end of the present combat says if we will go back as far as Julius Caesar we can find out how to handle this problem, something that even Napoleon failed to do. He says Caesar adjusted the situation in those parts with such consummate statesmanship that it remained fixed for 800 years; whereas Napoleon, after conquering the Germans, lived to see them become his own undoing. He says Napoleon agreed to permit an army of 42,000 in Germany, but overlooked the necessity for stipulating the period of service. The Germans promptly made this two years, and within a given time they had 250,000 trained men—enough, as it proved, to beat Napoleon and send him to repent his error on St. Helena. This gentleman doesn't come out and say that we haven't anyone of Caesar's foresight on our side; but he does intimate plainly enough that we can count among ourselves Caesar himself, whose idea of how to make peace with the Germans is still alive and kicking.

We have always said that if a million Americans got started for somewhere there isn't anything in Europe can stop them, and it looks as if that was not a very bad guess. We shall know more about it when there are a million Americans going somewhere. At this time we have probably a quarter of a million, and while nobody has stopped them yet we do not regard it as a test of our theory. The Kaiser could not have been interested in the revival of the Olympic games. Had he paid any attention to it he would have asked himself what it is the Americans have that leaves the rest of the world nowhere. We probably don't know ourselves; but whatever it is, they have it. If some German scientist will kindly analyze and name it when the boys hit Berlin, we shall be obliged to them. Somebody who watched an Olympiad footrace in which the first twelve men finishing were all Americans said it was the training. Well, it couldn't have been the training at Chateau-Thierry, for the enemy had a ton of that to our ounce. It is what it is, that's what it is. We know that much.

If it is true that Lindendorff had his way about the German offensive, it must make the General Staff try mighty hard to look out of the window when he comes in.

"What do you suppose brought Honduras into the war?"
"Oh, I suppose she heard somebody say that war is a lottery."

Dr. Karl Helfferich, former German Imperial Vice Chancellor, has been appointed German diplomatic representative at Moscow. We are not told what his offense was.

Citizen (waking to find burglar in the room):
You will find my money there on the dresser. Leave me some street car tickets.

The Americans would probably be in Berlin by this time if they knew the roads.

Turkey would quit for a piece of pie.

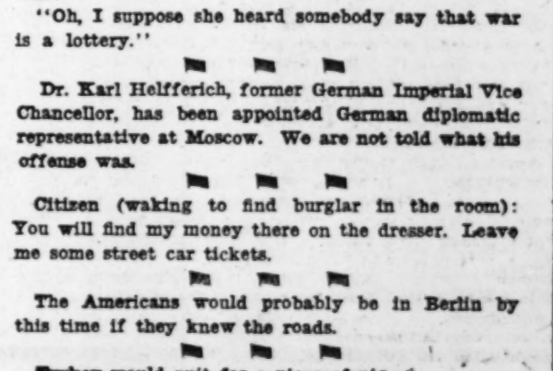

IN WHICH ONE FEELS LIKE THE BARKER FOR A SIDESHOW.

MISSOURI is in the throes of a senatorial primary. You may not hear much about it, for this is not a time when one hears of anything but the war. However, the primary is a fact; there are men continuing to run in spite of what their enemies say of them, and excitement of the sort generated by politics prevails in the kind of places where politics are discussed. If you care for any information, we can inform you without mentioning any names that all the men running are alike unfit for the place if half the things alleged of them are true—and you, of course, must be the judge of that. We say this because one's credulity is a part of one's prejudice or political affiliations, and we can't know what those are in your case. The office, we might say, is trivial. However, being bears for the trivial, as we are, no little attention is being given the campaign for it. What one could do after one got it rather beats us, but each of the contestants doubtless has some usefulness in mind the practicality of which we thoroughly doubt. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts said in the Senate when we had been in the war twelve months that we had put a wasted year behind us. Senator New of Indiana said in that August body late in the winter that we would have 37 airplanes in France by July 1. Senator King of Utah said what he said on the Weinsberg case when it was up under the impression that Weinsberg was the editor of the Post-Dispatch. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, said last winter of our War Department, which has surpassed all the records of history in getting a great army to a distant front, that it had almost ceased functioning. Other members of the Senate have done this, and that and the other thing, as to which memory does not always serve. Maybe one of these men wants to go from Missouri to do better than that or to lead the Senate into new spheres of usefulness. We can't say. We hear the bombs sometimes, but somehow never go around to hear what the candidates say. We laugh at government by Soviet in Russia, but that is because God did not do anything about Bobbie Burns' prayer that we might see ourselves as others see us. He left it at the status quo ante Bobbie.

The Albanian Drive.
THE campaign in Albania is a sideshow, but not an unimportant one. It heartens the Serbs and Greeks, disturbs the Bulgars, stops the transference of German and Magyar troops to the western front. Also, if it goes far enough, it will be of material aid in making possible an advance of the Vardar River. Albania in the hands of the allies would be a veritable mustard plaster on the Teuto-Bulgar flank in Macedonia.

The flurry caused in central Europe, circles by this little venture in the Albanian mountains helps us to realize how tremendously the allied cause would be aided if Russia could be brought back into the war, even though she came back with but a tithe of the power she exerted when at her best estate. Observers of all shades of opinion agree that it is possible to bring Russia back. Surely, great risks can be run on such a venture, and nothing should be spared to insure its success.

Ukraine Ripe for Revolt.

From the New Republic.

FORTUNATELY for the allied cause, the Germans have already made all the diplomatic mistakes that even a Government of Generals and Junkers can make. They have consistently backed the weaker party in Finland, the Baltic provinces and the Ukraine. The party of the great land owners and their satellites were ready to make any terms with Germany that would safeguard their possessions. The sympathy of the German Junker for Junkers of German or even alien blood, planted among the revolutionary border populations, together with Junker overestimation of the political potency of a landed aristocracy, determined the German choice of party alignment.

The Germans are compromised with the border state aristocracies, and in Great Russia the aristocracy is a broken reed. The aristocracy is not particularly useful even in the Ukraine. According to an article by Dr. Rohrbach published in the Bremen Nachrichten, "everyone in the Ukraine, without distinction of political belief, knows and admits that with the withdrawal of the German troops bloody Bolshevism and anarchy will break out over the Ukraine." All the subtle play of Germany upon Ukrainian nationalism goes for naught. The Ukrainian state has its bet-mans, Skoropadski, Ukrainian in blood and temperament, but as one might have anticipated, he is the possessor of latifundia of one-quarter million acres or more. Skoropadski is the man whom the majority sentiment of the Ukraine would dispose of.

Here, then, is a situation potentially favorable to the allies. They have a broad base of resentment against Germany to build upon. That resentment is partly nationalistic, partly social. The Germans are detestable as a people greedy for land and as a people who are likely to restore the ancient order of landed aristocrats and servile peasants. Anti-German sentiment is of course not the same thing as sentiment for the allies, but they can be made the same thing by skillful allied diplomacy.

More Home Rule for India.

From the New Home Evening Post.

THE plan for a qualified home rule for India, drawn up by Mr. Montagu, Secretary of State for India, and Viscount Chelmsford, and now made public, is both broad and elastic. The scheme contemplates the creation of provincial legislatures, composed of representatives directly chosen; a viceregal legislature for all India, comprising a legislative assembly and a Council of State; an Indian Privy Council appointed by the crown, and a Council of Princes. With the reservation of certain matters to the provincial executive councils, each comprising the Governor and two members, "the largest measure of independence compatible with the authority of the viceregal legislature" is promised to the provinces. The principle of election is also extended liberally in the choice of the viceregal legislature. Two-thirds of the 100 members of the legislative assembly and 21 of the 50 members of the Council of State are to be elected. Ten years after the proposed new system has been established a commission is to be appointed to "review the whole political situation," and determine what further powers, if any, may properly be relinquished to the native governments. Similar commissions are thereafter to be appointed at least every 12 years. The framers of the plan recognize that the declarations of British and American statesmen "concerning the liberalizing of the aims of the allies" are largely responsible for the increasing demand in India for self-government. It is to be hoped that the proposals now made will prove satisfactory to India as well as to Parliament.

The Albanian Drive.

OATMEAL SOUP.

ONE HALF pound of oatmeal, rolled oats or the like, is set to cook with one and a half quarts of water, three cups of parsley and the like; one-half cup of salt, two tablespoons of oil or butter substituted for the oil. Instead of the butter, you may use some left-over oil; or drippings. Bacon drippings, especially good. The soup may be served strained, or the way it is. It is very nourishing and satisfying. Will serve six.

TONGUE RAGOUT.

THIS very palatable dish, you may use most any kind of tongue—beef, pork or veal. The tongue is all right. The kind is advisable for large families. A beef tongue in most cases is too large. It must be fresh, not smoked. One or two tongues, altogether, will weigh about two and a half pounds. Wash the tongues well in water, rubbing them down with boiling water and a little salt. Then drop the tongues for two or three hours, according to size. To find out whether the tongue is soft, try the tip of the tongue, which is always the hardest part. ED PLUM PUDDING.

ONE quart of red plums with one quart of water until very soft. Stir through a sieve. Put this liquid or marmalade in a bowl and add two cups of corn syrup. Stir into it one pound of rice flour and let it sit about one-half hour, stirring constantly, so it will not burn. Put it in a double boiler for one hour into a bowl or mold, let cool, chill in refrigerator. Serve it with cream or milk.

Housewife's Scrapbook

Food administration advises that we "eat potatoes every day and send the wheat to the way." Try this way of eating potatoes: Boil potatoes, then cut into cubes. Melt one-half cup of butter in a pan, add one tablespoon cornmeal and let it cook three minutes. Add a half cup of milk and stir until thick. Add a half cup of water and stir until thick. Add a half cup of salt and paprika. Add a half cup of grated cheese and stir until melted. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven until brown.

Home Clean-Up Kit Invented by Girls

STAINS on clothing usually can be removed with a little trouble if attended to at once.

Those left in fabrics for several days are stubborn.

The girls in the home economics department of the University of Missouri have invented a clean-up kit that can easily be equipped by any housewife.

The kit will remove every stain from grease spots to tar. The materials and chemicals needed are bowls, sponges, medicine dropper, glass rods for stirring, clothes line, ivory and naphtha soap, benzene, ammonia, chloroform, acetic acid, borax, ink eradicator, brush, iron and blotter.

Directions for removing various kinds of stains follow:

Chocolate—Cover with borax and wash with cold water.

Coffee—Spread stained part over a bowl and pour boiling water over it from height of two to three feet.

Fruit—Use borax and ammonia with boiling water.

Glue—Apply acetic acid with a brush.

Grease—Apply benzene with a cloth.

Ink—Use eradicator as directed on box.

Iodine—Warm water and soap, chloroform or ammonia.

Machine oil—Benzene with soap and water.

Paint—Benzene, chloroform, or naphtha soap and water.

Rust—Cover with a paste of acetic acid and salt and place in sun.

Tar—Place blotting paper on either side and press with a hot iron.

PARAGRAPH HINTS

ON GARDEN HYGIENE

SPRAYING is of no avail unless it reaches the under sides as well as the tops of the leaves.

Burn all diseased and infested tops and roots of plants; to put them on the compost heap is to supply a comfortable breeding ground for more trouble.

Water your plants only when they require it and then do it thoroughly. Mere surface wetting does more harm than good.

It has been important all along, to keep your soil well cultivated, but it is still more important during this month and next. Remember that many weeds spread disease and harbor insects as well as robbing the plants of their rightful food and drink.

Spray with arsenate of lead for all insects that eat holes in the leaves of your plants. Powdered hellebore may also be used.

Spray with kerosene emulsion or a solution of whale-oil soap for those insects that stay in one place and suck the juice from the plants. Kerosene emulsion may be made at home by dissolving 1 pound whale-oil soap in 2 quarts of hot water with a pint of kerosene.

Tobacco dust or tobacco water should be poured on the ground about plants whose roots are infested with insects.

It is safe to spray with Bordeaux mixture for any sort of leaf blight.

Pyrethrum powder, while deadly to thrips and lice, is not poisonous to man.

Sprinkling lime over the soil will drive snails away.

Hand picking is the only reliable method known to me of getting rid of rose bugs.—July Good Housekeeping.

SEEDLESS JAM.

IN making seedless jam of blackberries a great saving may be effected by passing the berries, which have been previously cooked soft, through an ordinary rotary flour sifter.

In this way, with much less work and without staining the hands, every particle of the pulp can be separated from the seeds.

WOMEN'S RECORDS FOR TYPEWRITING

THE first woman typist to write over a hundred words a minute in a speed contest was Miss Bessie Friedman of New York, who accomplished the feat at Spokane, Wash., six years ago. On that occasion Miss Friedman averaged nearly 107 words a minute for 30 minutes. In 1906 Miss Rose Fritz wrote 82 words a minute, which remained the record until 1910, when H. O. Blaisdell pounded out 109 words in 60 seconds.

Miss Florence E. Wilson reached 112 in 1912, surpassing Miss Friedman's feat. In 1913, at New York, Miss Margaret B. Owen won the typewriting championship with an average of 125 words a minute for 60 minutes. Emil Trefzger took second place with 120 word, and Gus Trefzger was third, with 117 words. At the world's championship contest held in Toronto in April, 1914, Miss Owen retained her title, writing 126 words a minute for half an hour.

BACHELOR GIRL REFLECTIONS

By Helen Rowland.

IT takes about a year of marriage for a man to become accustomed to going home regularly nights, and about another year for him to begin to wonder why he does it.

A man's wife is something like the equator; in a subconscious way he knows she's there, of course, but he can look right at her without seeing her.

Don't fancy that your husband has forgotten you merely because he doesn't hurry home in the evening; it may be because he is thinking of you.

One of the nonessential occupations which most wives think the Government should suppress is the pursuit of the quack—but then, that has always been followed chiefly by men of more than twice the draft age.

Oh, yes, you CAN tell a married man from a bachelor, whether he wears a wedding ring or not. The cigars in his pocket are never crushed, he never permits the barber to put perfume on his hair, and he never looks bored or frightened when a pretty woman flatters him.

Once love has cooled it MAY be warmed over, but it is as flat and insipid as a Monday luncheon.

Call a man brave and noble and he'll suspect you of laughing at him; call him wicked and dangerous and he'll wonder if you're trying to flirt with him; but call him "unusual" and he'll believe any other sweet lie you choose to tell him.

HOW SWEET TEETH CUT IN SUGAR SUPPLY

YOUR sweet teeth consume, as candy, enough sugar each year to meet all sugar requirements under the rationing standard of England or France for one year, or of Italy for two years.

The money spent in the United States for candy in one year is double the amount required to feed Belgium one year.

If we think our allotment of sugar is small, let us compare it with the allotment of other countries. We may have three pounds of sugar apiece each month. The English may have two pounds. The French one pound (when they can get it), and the Italians one pound.

By using sweet dried fruits, such as dates, raisins and figs, to sweeten desserts and cereals, and in place of candy.

By using honey, syrups, maple sugar and molasses to sweeten desserts and beverages, in making cakes, cookies and frosting, and as far as possible in canning and preserving.

By canning fruits without sugar and by making fruit pastes where the natural sugar will give most of the sweetness.

"MORALE"

THE "e" attached in English to the borrowed word "moral" still generally adheres. Sir Douglas Haig—though probably he has to be edited by the printer—maintains it, and the Salvation Army evidently takes the word to mean "morality." Here and there, however, "moral" is spelled as it should, and even printed in italics; but that last is rather a counsel of perfection.

The word is needed in English, for we seem to have no brief equivalent whereas for the French antithesis—"physique" we have "physical condition."—London Chronicle.

Mr. Bear's Trap—Part II.

BILLY POSSUM was sure it was all up with him, and as he always did when cornered, he dropped on the ground and pretended he was dead.

Reddy Fox did not notice Billy Possum, but he did notice Billy Possum's trousers had caught on something, and his quick wit told him that it might hold and he could escape.

Reddy Fox took the one chance he had. He jumped at the hanging trousers. They held, and in another instant he was at the top, safe on the ground, and running for home as fast as his swift feet would carry him.

Billy Possum opened one eye after a while and looked around. His trousers were on the ground beside him. They had given way just as Reddy Fox reached the top.

Then Billy opened the other eye and looked around for Reddy. He sat up and rubbed his eyes. "He must be here," he thought, "for how could he get out?"

But he wasn't. For the daylight came through the trees just then and Billy Possum could see plainly that he was quite alone in the deep hole, with no way of escape, and just then he heard a noise.

Down he went on the ground as if he were dead again, and none too soon, for Mr. Bear looked into the trap he had dug just a second later.

"Well, well," he said, "if it isn't Billy Possum, and I was pretty sure it was that scamp Reddy Fox who was stealing my pies and cakes."

"Poor Billy! I am rather sorry the fall killed him, for I always liked Billy Possum. I'll have to cover him up, I suppose."

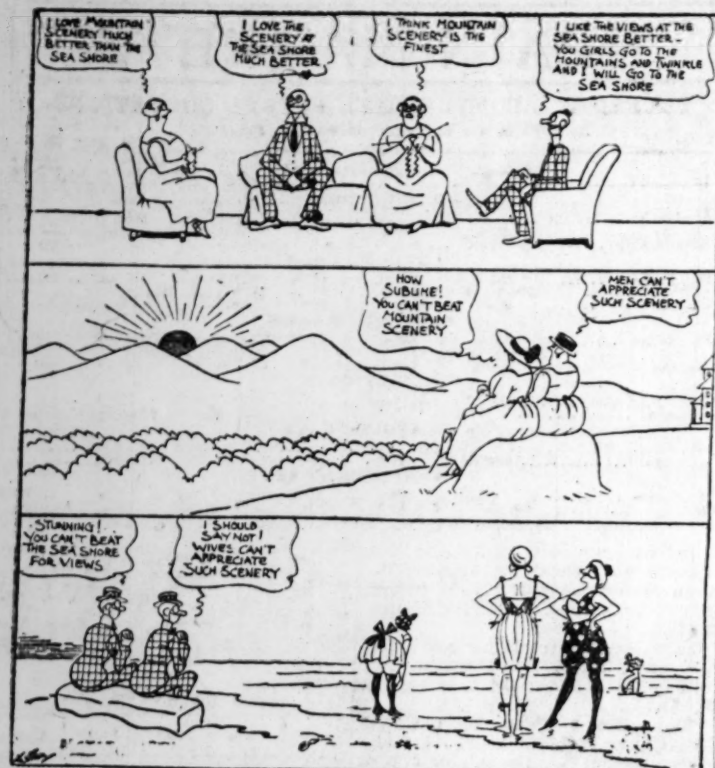

Mr. Bear went for his shovel, feeling pretty sure Billy Possum was up to his old tricks and not dead at all, but as Billy could not think of anything else to do he lay very still and down came the first shovelful of earth from Mr. Bear's shovel.

THEN the second and the third. "Poor old Billy Possum," said Mr. Bear, "I am sorry to cover you up and to think you were the thief. I really did wrong Reddy Fox after all. I'll have to go right over after I finish covering Billy and tell him."

Billy Possum, of course, heard every word and felt all the earth falling on him, too. He did not wish to be covered up, but worse than that, he could picture Reddy Fox laughing to himself when Mr. Bear told him how he had wronged him. It was too much to bear.

Up jumped Billy. "I am not dead," Mr. Bear, he said, "and if you will

I WANT to have a tooth drawn," announced the small boy with the steel-gray eyes, "and I want gas." "You're too young to have gas, my little man," said the dentist. "Besides, I'm sure you aren't afraid of being hurt. Sit still and be a man." "It isn't that at all," said the boy, "but I'm afraid I shall not be able to help giving a bit of a squeal when it comes out." "Well, that won't matter at all," said the dentist. "I'm sure I shall not mind." "No, but I shall. Look out of that window." The dentist looked and saw a lot of grinning lads standing under the window. "They're all the kids I've fought and licked," said the customer, "and they've come to hear me holler."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Explained.
"What's a tip, pop?" "You've heard, haven't you, my son, of parting a fool from his money?" "Yes, pop." "Well, a tip is what they do it with."—Baltimore American.

Unessential.
"The Government ought to get after those peace predictors and tax them." "Under what head?" "Excess prophets."—Cleveland Leader.

A Long Wait.
THE self-made man stalked into the office of a great financier with whom he had an appointment. "You probably don't remember me," he began, "but 20 years ago, when I was a poor messenger boy, you gave me a message to carry." "Yes, yes!" cried the financier. "Where's the answer?"—New York Globe.

His Ruling Passion.
THE world-famous editor was dying, but when the doctor bent over, placed his ear on his breast and said: "Poor man! circulation almost gone!" the dying editor sat up and shouted: "You're a liar; we have the largest circulation in the country!" Then he got out of bed and wrote an article on the malice of unsuccessful rivals.—London Tit-Bits.

Equal to Emergency.
AN old one on Gen. "Bob" Bullard, when he was a Colonel: Out on the maneuvers, while the regiment was crossing a bridge, an umpire yelled to the Colonel commanding: "What's the matter there, Colonel, don't you know that bridge is supposed to have been burned?" And the Colonel answered, "I know it, I know it. My men are supposed to be swimming."—Pass in Review.

A Sure Cure.
SUFFERER: I have a terrible toothache, and want something to cure it. Friend: Now, you don't need any medicine. I had toothache yesterday and I went home, and my loving wife kissed me and so consoled me that the pain soon passed away. Why don't you try the same? Sufferer: I think I will. Is your wife at home now?—Le Rire (Paris).

Or All Wrong, Maybe.
H: Life would be all right but for two things. She: What are they? He: Blondes and brunettes.

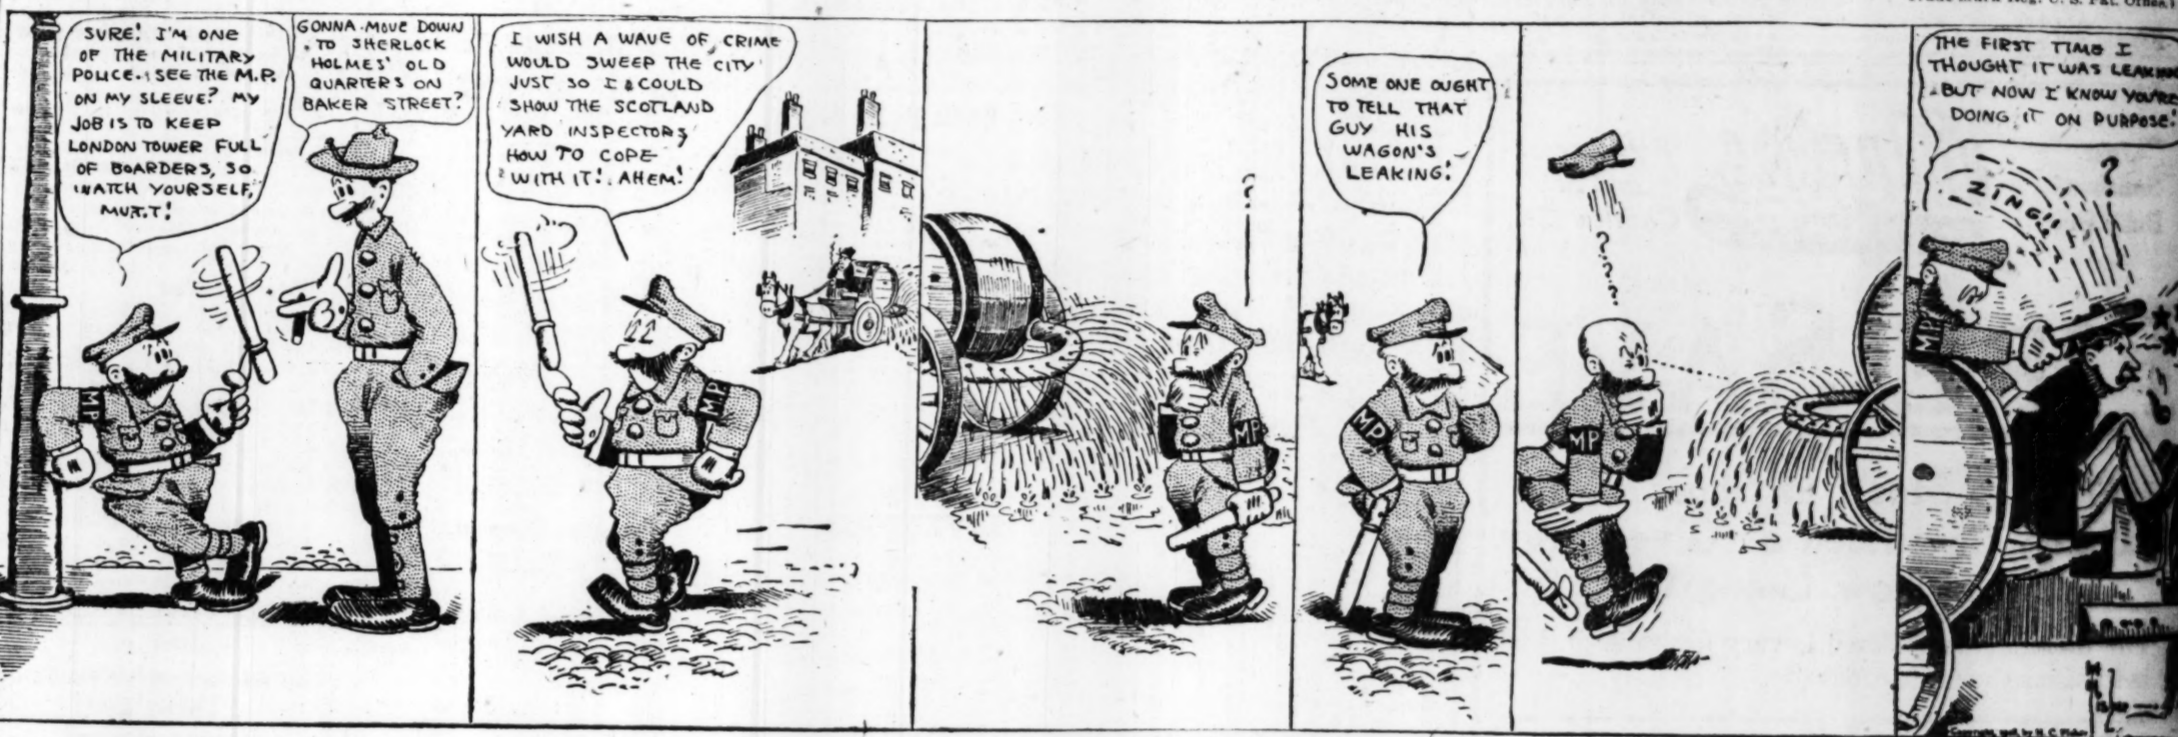

Complimenting Him.
"Did you refer to me as a liar, sir?" "Oh, no; only that you were master of the art of camouflage the truth."—Boston Globe.

Second Thought.
WIFEY: On your way home, will you ask that girl at the store to Hubby: You mean that maiden with the blue eyes, blond hair, ruby lips, deep dimples and graceful carriage? Wife: Oh, you needn't mind. I intended to go to town myself today.—Froth.
